

Planning and organisation of logging and harvesting of wood, resin and other forest products. Methods used and means of harvesting (tools, machinery, animals, etc.). Peculiarities of harvesting conditions in Greek forests. Harvesting systems in relation to the conditions. Principles, means, methods and systems for shifting and macro-transport of wood. Modern mechanical means of displacement and transport of wood (ground, air and water transport). Displacement and transport of wood by tractors (simple and articulated). Economic aspects of harvesting forest products. Analysis of work phases, forestry personnel, training, accidents. Means, operations, systems, work practices and organisation of forest product harvesting operations. Demonstration of logging and harvesting operations in forest stands in the region. Presentation, classification and handling of forest products. Harvesting of resin. Harvesting of forest products and the environment.